

Host Your Convention on Maltivas Executive Summary

Our Why

We believe creators and organizers should own their audience, their revenue, and their experience—and we are building systems to make that a reality, so that they can drive predictable attendance, revenue, and long-term growth.

Overview

Maltivas is a full-service convention management platform built for fan conventions, comic cons, film festivals, and creative industry events. It replaces fragmented tools with a unified system for ticketing, exhibitor management, programming, payments, and audience engagement.

Ticket pricing can be a barrier. High upfront costs cause potential attendees to delay purchasing—and reduce the moeny they have to buy from creators at the events.

The Solution

Maltivas provides one platform for everything, powered by Trickl—a savings-based payment system that allows attendees to gradually pay for tickets over time, increasing conversions and guaranteeing future attendance.

Why Trickl Changes Everything

Instead of losing hesitant buyers, Trickl converts intent into commitment:

- Attendees start with a small deposit
- Pay gradually through automated contributions
- Secure tickets before full payment
- Show up with fully paid access on event day

This transforms ticketing from a one-time decision into a predictable pipeline of committed attendees.

Outcome

Maltivas enables convention organizers to:

- Increase ticket sales through savings-based purchasing
- Predict attendance before event day
- Eliminate tool fragmentation
- Manage their entire event from one platform

Vision

To become the economic operating system for creators. If we can help the conventions they attend and make them get more attendees with more money in the pocket to purchase from them, we have won.
